Adamson Roofing took care of a problem with a leaking roof promptly and efficiently. The leak has been eliminated, and as a result of the Consultation with Adamson Roofing, I learned a great deal more about matters concerning the life and upgrade of our home's roof. It's great to work with a company that provides additional information and details during the estimate and repair process. The latter shows commitment to providing services with pride and professionalism.

My wife and I have been searching for a roofing company for the past 16 months we came across Adamson roofing. After reading some of their many reviews and seeing that they were a top rated roofer along with being GAF certified we gave them a call to come out for an estimate. Upon his arrival Mr. Len was very thorough and extensive with his report and estimate he also gave us a few other recommendations with top rated companies since we were looking for other work to be done around the house. We ended up calling about 4 roofing companies for estimates and Adamson was the most thorough and reputable. The work team assigned to our property worked in a very timely matter and cleanliness was not an issue The workers kept our property nice and tidy throughout the whole process and finished in a very timely matter all work was done and completed from early morning to mid evening! We were in awe and shock of the quality work done in such a short amount of time. I'll in by saying this the work was completed over a month ago and I still have the Adamson sign in my yard from such a quality job done thanks Adamson Roofing, we would recommend this company over and over again to anyone on the market for a new roof or roofing services!

I was very satisfied with the job from start to finish. Len took the time to sit and explain all the details of the job, the materials used, the company warranty, etc. In contrast to two other companies that gave estimates through e-mail. One of these companies came and measured without setting an appointment and when I was not at home.

When it came to choosing a company to replace my roof, I am so thankful I chose Adamson Roofing. Working with Jacki and Len was a true pleasure. Len, your knowledge and company structure is second to none. You will never feel like you are not important to them. They promise you excellent service, excellent quality, and excellent results and they deliver at a 110% level. By far one of the best company's I have ever worked with. Thank you so much.
